Orphans to Watch Knights and Elks Battle on Diamond for Their Benefit. Fans Should Turn Out.

Four ballplayers visited Bonestell Rees last week. No matter what happens to Nats, Reds or Ams, Bonestell continues to get the breaks.

Conditions in Bonestell must be awful when Hilt Perlins welcomes a trade that takes him to St. Louis.

FRENCHMEN PUT UP A FIGHT FOR DAVIS TROPHY

Orphans' day at Traction park tomorrow. The Knights of Columbus and the Elks will play baseball for the benefit of St. Anthony's orphanage, and all the little orphans big enough to attend will be at the game. It will be the first baseball game ever seen for many of them. They will march into the park in a body, and their presence should be not the least interesting feature of the occasion.

They will see real baseball, and so will the fans who turn out—who should number a multitude. There is no other game to conflict with the contest, and fan money never went for a more worthy cause than St. Anthony's orphanage.

The Knights have a strong team and will go into the game determined to even up matters with the Elks, who defeated them at Traction park several weeks ago by a close score. Play will start at 3:30 o'clock.

ELIBER REWARD

Will be paid for information as to identity of the party who burglarized the Combs bar.
